

CIVIC AFFAIRS WERE DISCUSSED

AT A WELL ATTENDED MEETING

Civic Officials Reviewed the Municipal Year—Alderman May for the Mayoralty—Seven Aldermanic Vacancies

Last evening was field night in civic affairs when the Mayor and Aldermen gave an account of their stewardship during the past year. It transpired, also, that notwithstanding the provision of the city charter that only one-half of the board of aldermen should retire at the year's end, only one member would be left this year, as either by resignation or expiry of term, all save Ald. Bellamy are retiring. Aldermen Fieard, Griesbach and Clarke announced themselves as seeking re-election, and Ald. May declared himself as a candidate for the mayoralty.

Mayor McKenzie presided over the meeting which was held in Robertson Hall and which was large and gave evidence of a deep interest in municipal affairs.

MAYOR MCKENZIE
"Gentlemen," his Worship began. "The year had slipped around rapidly. I will not make any pretence of giving you a full account of the year's work, but I am ready to answer any questions that you may ask me. This year has been a historic one for Edmonton. A year ago we became a city. Since then one historic event after another has followed. Edmonton is now the capital of a new province and is on the main line of the transcontinental railway. Prospects were never brighter for the city than they are at present. The work of the year was faced by a new council last January under difficulties. The charter was new and all municipal machinery had to be provided. Consequently it took some time to get the machinery into operation, and it was March before the commissioner met for the first time. There were a great many difficulties to overcome, difficulties arising naturally out of the new order of things. We have now had almost a year's experience with the new charter. The charter is in principle a good one, but I admit it is defective in details. It was hurriedly thrown together, and details were incorporated which now seem contradictory. It would be an easy matter at the first session of the Legislature to have the defects rectified. I would not like to see the principles of the charter departed from."

The matter of assessment was the most serious difficulty to overcome, and the commissioners had found considerable trouble in getting a satisfactory adjustment of the assessment. The present system may have worked injustice to some, but it was vital to reach certain classes of people who could not be reached under the old system, and on the whole he thought no very serious injustice had been done.

He wished to refer to a few matters in connection with the public works of the city. The first difficulty faced by the council was the mode of the extension of the waterworks and sewers. The work done this year might seem a reversal of the extension proposal brought out last year, but he thought this would be found justified as it would have been almost impossible to carry out the larger proposal of last year, on account of scarcity of labor and difficulty in getting material.

In regard to the Grand Trunk Pacific agreement he was sorry to report that little progress has been made since the public meeting held last summer. This was no fault of the council as the railway company did not seem disposed to give them a chance to close with them. The city solicitor had met the solicitor of the G.T.P. and had left in his possession a good basis on which a satisfactory agreement could be framed, which was to be signed by the company and forwarded to the city. This agreement has not yet been received. In October Mr. Morse, vice-president and manager of the G.T.P., came as far as Saskatoon, and the speaker communicated with him, urging him to come to the city, and intimating that it was a serious matter that people with large investments in the city should be left in a state of suspense, and that a basis of agreement had been reached, the agreement should be closed. Mr. Morse replied, regretting that it was necessary for him to return east, and that he would not be able to visit Edmonton. He did not say when he would be able to come. Some have thought that the council should urge the matter upon the company. There had to be two parties to every deal and everybody knew that it was impossible to one knew that it was impossible to one being forced into it. He had hopes that during this month Mr. Morse would again be in the West, and would ment, to go over the ground properly. No doubt the commissioner had had little time to adjust the assessment. He then touched upon the street railway question. He had heard the report circulated that he had received a bribe. He would rather get into the sewer and dig for a living than receive a bribe. It was not in his blood to accept bribes. He thought that if the street railway company did not fulfil the conditions the charter was to revert to the city. A communication had been received by the council from a man in the United States, in which he asked if the council would dispose of its street railway charter to the writer, who would build a road railway for the city. He himself had moved that the communication be received and filed and a reply sent to the effect that the city was not prepared to dispose of the charter, as arrangements were underway to have a railway built under municipal control.

Mr. May said he would have the honor to be in the field as a candidate for the mayoralty. The taxpayers had placed their confidence in him for the last two years, for which he thanked them. He was proud to be an alderman of Edmonton, and he would be proud to be mayor. If the taxpayers thought that he was unfit to occupy the honored chair, then he would step at home and attend to his own business.

PUBLIC WORKS COMMISSIONER
Commissioner Hargreaves, of the public works department, then rose to tell of the work of that department. He was not prepared to make a speech, but was there to answer questions. Ald. May had made a rather startling statement regarding the sewers. He was surprised that Mr. May, who was the contractor, should make such a statement. The cement spoken of by Mr. May had been placed under the sewer pipes, not over them. "What about the water pipes?" someone asked.

In answer to this, Mr. Hargreaves said it had been the established custom when he came to the city to

The Banner Month OF 1905

Today we enter upon the Banner Month of 1905, and we take this opportunity of thanking you for the generous patronage received during the preceding part of the year, and soliciting that same generous patronage throughout this month.

Our stock is now replete with all the latest notions in Christmas Gifts for old and young.

This year our stock is more complete and up to date than any previous year, having bought direct from New York, Boston, London and other European markets, thus buying cheaper than other dealers, and doing away with the middle man's profit.

We would call Special Attention to our line of Fancy China, in odd pieces; Austrian Glass Goods, Balesk China, imported direct from Ireland.

Also our Fancy Goods Department in leather and gold and silver plated line; also our great variety of Presentation Books.

Space will not permit mentioning other lines, but we assure you that a visit to our store will prove mutually beneficial.

CATTLE TRADE GOOD

(Calgary Herald)

Cold weather has put a stop to cattle shipping which has been going steadily on for the last four or five months in good numbers.

This year trade has been fairly good, with the exception of the recent slump in the Liverpool market which has prevented some shipments from going forward.

The range country, that is from Cochrane and Cowley on the U. P. main line, and on the Crow's Nest, on the west to Moose Jaw on the east has disposed of in the neighborhood of 70,000 head of cattle.

Of this number about 50,000 were export stock and the balance were slaughtered in Canada.

Last year the export stock numbered 34,000.

From these figures it will be seen that this year's movement was greatly in excess of last year's. The fall of 1935 leaves very few animals which come under the class of exports still on the range. Those which have still to go out will probably not number over 2,000 head.

The export cattle shipped during the season will number as follows:

Month	Head
April	87
May	826
June	2,648
July	8,693
August	10,593
September	11,535
October	11,642
November (to date, about)	5,900
Total	50,588

Strathmore has now become the principal shipping point. Previously stations along the south line held the premier position but the ranchers' enemy—the fence—has spoiled them, and the cattlemen look for more open ground when making their shipments.

Shippers and buyers have both had a fairly good season. The few cattle which are now remaining may still go forward if weather permits. It is several years since the range has been made as clear of marketable cattle as it is right now.

It is still rather early to make a forecast of what the next year may bring forth, but indications point to a year of contention out by the fact that for the last couple of years the importation of stocker cattle has been very slight and consequently the cattle imported in former years have nearly all been disposed of. The cattle marketed next year will be nearly all Alberta bred stock.

What effect the recent heavy storm may have on the stock is hard to forecast. In many sections the fires which raged this fall have practically destroyed all the range and some ranchers are completely cut off from their supply of range territory. On the other hand the creeks, swamps and springs have all been frozen up and the snow if it does not lie too long will furnish the necessary moisture for the stock.

HOW EDMONTON IS GROWING

(Special Correspondence of the Toronto Globe)

Edmonton, Nov. 18.—Down east people shiver and turn up their coat collars when they think of Edmonton. To hear them talk you would imagine the capital of Alberta was about a half-mile from the arctic circle. A man here told me the other day that when he asks an easterner to come west to this city and accept a position he invariably receives a letter in reply asking him how cold it is. Somehow or other Edmonton and intense cold are synonymous.

I am not retained to boom Edmonton, but, truth to tell as far as I have experienced it, the weather here is even better, at this time of year, anyway, than in the east. I came here on the 9th of November, and have been here since. In the week it was positively too warm for a fall overcoat, the sun shone warmly every day, ladies appeared on the streets in shirt waist suits, and the man who came up from the east with a fur-lined coat or conskin wondered why he brought it. On the evening of November 8 the Conservatives held a public meeting in the open air. How many people would stand in the open air in the east on that day and listen to political speeches? True, the speeches, especially if uttered by William Findlay Maclean, would not attract them, but the atmosphere, if I mistake not, would repel them.

Remember, they have cold weather here, the thermometer registers lower than it ever does in Toronto, but the people do not feel the cold so much, and then, winter is really confined to January and February. The pleasant, warm days frequently last until Christmas. This year the snow disappeared on February 17, and there hasn't been a sign of it since.

As for Edmonton itself, it is a wonderful city. "When I came here five years ago," remarked Mr. Anderson, of the Union Bank, "the population was 2,600. Today it is, I believe, ten thousand." That is remarkable growth, especially when we consider that even at this moment Edmonton has not a railroad. Lots of people in the east may not be aware of that fact, but it is true nevertheless. However, before this letter appears the Canadian Northern will be at Edmonton. The rails are now being laid from Fort Saskatchewan west. The station is a very neat, commodious structure, is nearly completed.

When I say Edmonton is without a railroad at the present I may be misunderstood, but, as a matter of fact there is no railway entering this city. True, the C. P. R. comes up from Calgary to Strathcona, but that isn't Edmonton. You have to come over the river by bus in order to reach this city, and freight has to be carted across or brought over by a spur line of the C. N. R. With the incoming of the C. N. R. main line the Grand Trunk Pacific, and the extension of the C. P. R. from Strathcona across the river the city in a few years will have the best railroad facilities of any place in the west. Branch lines will be built north, east, west and south to serve this rapidly-developing country. The railroad alone ought to increase the population of this place by many thousands, for in every instance it will be a divisional centre, with shops and the like employing many men.

The capital of Alberta is certain to be Edmonton. At present it is provisionally such, but it will be permanent as soon as the new Legislature meets. The Government headquarters are in the fine, new Empire block, but as soon as organization is perfected a site will be selected and parliament buildings erected. No one knows just where the location of these will be, but I am told the vicinity of the old Hudson's Bay post close to the river is the most favored spot. Lieut.-Gov. Bulyea has leased the large new brick residence erected this summer by Hon. Frank Oliver, and will use the old Oliver house adjoining for his office. Mr. Babbitt, brother of Mrs. Bulyea, is the Lieutenant-Governor's secretary. The first session of the new Legislature is likely to be held in Robertson's Hall.

The professions are completely crowded here and new doctors and lawyers are coming in continually. At present there are twenty-seven lawyers practising in the city and none of them seem to be dissatisfied. Two new banks, the Molsons and the Northern, are said to be coming in before the year closes. With these additions there will be eight banks in the place. The Merchants' Bank is building a magnificent new office of brick, three storeys high. The Bank of Commerce, and the Bank of Montreal are in their new quarters, and I question if they can be excelled in any city of the east.

Real estate speculation continues. The west end of the town is the Meca of buyers, and exceedingly high prices are being paid for lots. First street, running north and south, is to be the principal cross street, the Young street of the city. It will run to the new C. N. R. station and elevators, and is already filling up with business places, and lots are almost as high-priced here as on Jasper avenue, the main thoroughfare.

The growth of school population is so rapid that a new school has to be erected at once in the northeast end of the city. The school buildings in existence here would do credit to Toronto or any other Ontario city. With churches the same story is to be told. Extension is the order of the day. The Church of England, Presbyterian and Methodist now have two churches each in the city, and last Sunday the Baptists dedicated an imposing $20,000 church.

The Hon. A. W. Morris, late Provincial Treasurer of Quebec, is here at present, and it is said he represents an eastern syndicate which proposes to erect several business blocks and a large apartment house. The latter is needed. Houses cannot be secured for rent at any respectable figure. A "shack" with sitting-room and two bedrooms rented the other day for $35 a month. Think of that you people of Toronto who are complaining of house rents!

Several wholesale firms from the east have branches here now, and others are coming in later. The J. T. Griffin Co. of Winnipeg, have leased a big warehouse here, and their arrival will create a better market for butter and eggs than even at present exists.

TO HANDLE ALBERTA WHEAT

(Vancouver Province)
Work on the excavating and grading of the property recently acquired by the Hall Elevator Company in the vicinity of Recreation Park, was commenced this morning. Sixteen teams are now employed on the work, which will be rushed in order to have the elevator building completed and ready for operation early in January of the coming year. Just as soon as the grading is finished a large force of men will be put to work on the construction of the elevator building.

It is the intention of the company, as soon as the elevator is finished, to handle a large amount of Alberta wheat. Provision has already been made for the forwarding of this wheat to Vancouver.

As this is the first grain elevator ever started in Vancouver, and as it is undoubtedly the forerunner of others, building operations will be watched with a great deal of interest by those interested in the progress of Vancouver—by the entire population.

CIVIC AFFAIRS WERE DISCUSSED

place the water main and the sewer in the same trench. He himself had not established the sewer system. The first sewer built this year, that on Saskatchewan avenue, had been built that way. Mr. Hargreaves said that he had been against such a plan, but he did not believe that this was good construction, and all the mains and sewers since that had been laid in separate trenches. Speaking of the sidewalks, Mr. Hargreaves said there were no doubt but portions of sidewalk, arising from inferior workmanship or cement. But as the walks had to be finished at a certain date, there had been no time to replace the bad portions.

WHERE THE CEMENT WAS PLACED.

Mayor McKenzie here arose and said that there were probably several sewer contractors present who could say whether cement had been placed on top of the sewers or not. He called upon Mr. Webster, who had a contract for laying some of the sewers. Mr. Webster said as far as he knew no cement had been placed on top. The plan had been laid out of a bad of concrete, but he did not understand how concrete could have been placed on top of the pipes. The water mains had been placed beside the sewer and probably on a lower level, but not directly beneath the sewer. If the water mains were placed beneath the sewer there would be great danger of typhoid fever.

ALDERMAN BOYLE.

Mr. Boyle was the next speaker. He believed that this was the night when the aldermen were to give an account of the deeds done. He would try to put fairly what his views were on municipal matters. According to the charter the duties of the council were legislative, not executive. Executive work had been laid on commissioners. He was chairman of the committee on bylaws and special legislation. This committee had had much work to do. They had many problems to solve. Aldermen Board and Grisham had been on the committee with him and had given all matters their careful and close attention. It was the duty of the committee to prepare all bylaws and present them to the council. He would not attempt to deal with all the bylaws that had been passed by the council, but would speak of a few most important matters. One problem which had been dealt with by the committee was the pound bylaw. He was afraid, although they had struggled with it, that the present bylaw was not giving satisfaction to everybody. They had solved the problem by fixing certain limits in the city, within which the horses were not allowed to roam at large, and they had made good provision for the enforcement of the bylaw.

Referring to the finance committee of which he was a member, Mr. Boyle said the duties of the committee were not very onerous. They had been mostly left to the commissioners. It had devolved upon the committee early last year to investigate the accounts of the city. They had found the accounts in a condition in which they should not have been. It was the duty of the auditor to find out whether accounts which should have been charged to one department had been charged to others. If this condition of things continued, and whether or not he was in a position to know whether certain enterprises were on a paying basis or not, he thought the auditor should be responsible to the council for the condition of the accounts. The city auditor had been dismissed by the council, and an expert bookkeeper had been employed to find out whether accounts were right, and report to the council. The report had never been handed in. The public should see that an auditor was employed who would feel it his duty to bring to the attention of the council any matters regarding the accounts. This was a serious matter, the speaker said, not that one dollar of the public money had been misappropriated, but he believed that the accounts should be kept so that any one would know how municipal enterprises stood, and whether any charges were being made. He hoped that if the people believed this they would not forget at the election to men who would run the proper auditing of the city accounts.

Regarding the Grand Trunk Pacific, Mr. Boyle explained that several things had been overlooked in the agreement between the city and the company. The city had agreed to give the company running rights over the C. N. R. in the city and also on McKenzie avenue south of the C. N. R. yards. That was all right. But the fact had been overlooked that the C. N. R. had absolute fee simple of the right of way, and that therefore the city could not give what it did not own. The speaker had taken the ground that the city was in better bound to keep the agreement, and if we could not deliver all the goods, as it were, we should make good what we could not deliver. He wished to say that the city was not responsible for the fact that the agreement had not been closed. All the correspondence had been carried on by the commissioners. Nothing was to be gained by delay. The sooner the agreement was closed the better. He strongly advised that the people see that the council could take the matter up and see the agreement closed at once.

Mr. Boyle then spoke of the street railway. In his opinion the city would never get back the radial character without a law suit. The city might go ahead and build a railway inside the city, but they would never get the charter for the nine-mile limit outside the city without having a suit. Edmonton is the capital of Alberta now and growing rapidly. This would shortly come when they would have to consider the inclusion of a street railway. They would also be the problem of power to solve. He believed it was for the best interests of the city that we should control the street railway system.

Concerning the telephone problem the speaker said he was prepared to take his share of the blame for the money not being paid for a new

NEWS NOTES FROM THE FEDERAL CAPITAL

Ottawa, Nov. 23.—Notice has been received by the Postoffice Department to the effect that mail communication with Russia via Stockholm is uncertain, but that correspondence for the city and government of St. Petersburg, for north and northwest Russia and for Finland, will be forwarded by every available opportunity, and it is important that addresses of letters, etc., should be as full as possible; also that payment of money orders in Russia is subject to delay, and that no parcels can be sent at present. A convention is now in force between the Postoffice of Canada and the Postoffice of Finland for direct exchange of closed parcels by mail. The rate will be sixteen cents for each pound or fraction thereof.

It is perhaps news to easterners to learn that the Indians of the Yukon have regarded themselves as at war with the whites ever since white men arrived in the country in 1897. This astonishing piece of information is contained in a report from the police superintendent at White Horse, just received here. However, the officer in question adds some further news of a more reassuring character. He says that at the time of writing the Indians were assembled at White Horse from Taku, Tagish, Allen, Little Salmon and Dalton House for the purposes of holding inter-tribal dances and entertainments. This would be followed by a gathering at Little River, where the hatchet would be formally buried.

This same Mounted Police officer reports that at Windy Arm a rich vein of silver ore has been discovered half a mile from the Montana tunnel. This proves the vein to be more than half a mile long and troubles the amount of ore in sight in the Consolidated group of mines, of which it forms one. Mr. Conrad says he has $12,000,000 worth of ore in sight by actual measurement. By returns received up-to-date the value of the ore averages $102.10 to the ton.

The Bucknall Steamship Company are negotiating through their agent, Alley, with the Canadian and New Zealand Governments for contracts for a steamship service between the two countries. Some time ago New Zealand voted £10,000 subsidy towards the proposed line for one year and Canada followed suit. The company asked that the contract be made for three years, as the cost of sending the steamships from London to New Zealand would consume a large share of the first year's subsidy. Canada was willing to make the change, but the New Zealand Minister of Commerce has replied that he has no authority from his Parliament to extend the term. It is now likely that if the Bucknall Company can obtain the contract for one year they will take it in the hope of securing a renewal for the further term later on. The Railway Commission has heard argument by the C. P. R. in support of the deviations from the route as laid down on their route map with respect to Wetaskiwin, on the Saskatchewan section of their Phasant Hills branch. The distance between Saskatchewan and Wetaskiwin is about 350 miles, and the deviation proposed would not be more than ten to twelve miles in that distance. The board reserved judgment. A similar question is pending in regard to the Lake Superior branch of the G. T. P., which will run from the lake northward to connect with the Transcontinental. The time cannot be carried out as proposed on the route map owing to the physical difficulties, which were not perceived at first owing to the country being unsurveyed. The deviations of the Lake Superior branch will therefore have to be granted.

The action of the old Legislative Assembly of the Northwest, protecting beaver until December 31, 1908, is having a good effect. According to advice received here the beaver are increasing in the Regina district, being present along the Souris and other points in large numbers.

The Prime Minister today received a telegram from Mr. Prefontaine, who sailed from New York on the Kron Prinz on Tuesday, sent when the vessel was 700 miles from New York, and being the first received at Sable Island, where there is a powerful apparatus and seven operators.

THE NEW ROADS BUY MATERIAL

Extensive orders for railway building material are being placed with coast mills by the contractors for the Grand Trunk Pacific and the Canadian Northern.

In all, between seven and eight million feet of lumber will be cut here during the next couple of months exclusively for railway building. No doubt the entire value of the orders received amounts to about $10,000,000 in round figures, covering the aggregate of seven million feet. It is expected, too, that these are but the first of a number of orders that will be received by the coast mills.

Of these orders the Canadian Pacific Lumber Co. of Port Moody, has ordered about four million feet, and that mill has accordingly had a shipment made this morning by Secretary T. P. Peterson, much obliged to keep busy for the next three or four months.

STOVES

will soon be needed, and no doubt they will go with a rush.

If you want a first class up-to-date Cast Iron Range that has been a winner for many years, we have the "Happy Thought." There is more of this Range in use than any other one in Canada, and no person has ever heard of a poor one. Then, if you want an all steel and malleable iron range, we have the "Monarch." You cannot break this range and it has a mirror polished top which makes it a thing of beauty to look at as well as to use.

For any up-to-date line of heating stoves we think we have them all beat. It is not a case of you having to take what we have, our assortment justifies us in saying you can get just what you want from us.

We have from the smallest to the largest heating stoves in any style and for any purpose, to burn both coal and wood, or both. The prices are made to suit the pockets of all, and while we make only a very small profit on each stove we think the quantity we sell justifies us in saying that we can sell on so close a margin and still hold our own. We have everything in stove trimmings, and first class mechanics to deliver and put them up. Do not waste time in king all over the city, but come direct to us.

A CHINA WEDDING

Correspondence

On Nov. 23rd a very interesting event took place at Beaver Hills when Mr. and Mrs. Gus Dore celebrated the twentieth anniversary of their wedding. The swift passing years have dealt very gently with Mr. and Mrs. Dore, and while they are not as young as they used to be, yet they could not resist the temptation to celebrate in the good old-fashioned way: so the fatted calf was killed, and the friends and neighbors invited, and the respected host and hostess showed that they could still make a pleasant evening for their friends.

The company sat down to a sumptuous supper about eight o'clock and when we say that by half-past nine all were in good humor for the after-dinner speeches, it is not hard to imagine the justice that was done to the good things. Congratulatory speeches were made by several of the guests and were replied to by the "special host." The rest of the evening was spent in conversation and singing, in which all took part. When the evening was ended everyone voted that they had had a good time.

BRITISH POLITICS

London, Nov. 28.—Lord Rosebery's emphatic repudiation in his speech at Bodmin, Cornwall, Nov. 23, of the home rule policy of Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, leader of the Liberal party as outlined by the statesman when speaking at Stirling, Scotland, November 23, which seems to have widened the breach in the party at the moment when a dissolution of Parliament is threatened, owing to the split in the Unionists party over the fiscal question is the latest sensation in the political circles of the United Kingdom.

Sir Edward Grey, who was Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs in the Liberal Administration of 1902-05, speaking at Newcastle-on-Tyne yesterday, attempted to dispel the idea that Lord Rosebery and Sir H. Campbell-Bannerman are irreconcilable. He said that he thought Lord Rosebery had put a wrong construction on Sir Henry's speech at Stirling, and that undoubtedly an explanation from the latter would prove there had been a misunderstanding. Sir Edward said the policy of the Liberal Government should be along the lines followed by Premier Balfour.

George Wyndham, former Chief Secretary for Ireland, and Sir Anthony P. McDonnell, Under Secretary to the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, said he believed in giving Ireland the widest possible scope for the development of her local institutions. He declared, however, that he distinctly repudiated the idea of home rule for Ireland as part of the Liberal policy.

Austen Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, speaking at Redditch last night said that the crisis in the Cabinet existed solely in the imagination of the newspapers. There was no such crisis he declared, and he added that he was unable to see whether the general elections would take place.

The C.P.R. are offering excursion rates to the coast during December and January for single fare, plus $2.

The steel gang yesterday completed the track from the C.N.R. yards to the yards at the E.Y. & P. on the flats.

The Young Liberal club rooms will be opened tomorrow morning in the Walker block as the permanent home of the club and will be kept open continuously in future.

A message was received today announcing the death of Truro, Nova Scotia, of C. Augustus McCurdy. The deceased was the father of Mrs. Clarence A. Mitchell and Mrs. E. G. MacSween of this city.

The Ladies' Aid of Grace Methodist church are holding a bazaar on Tuesday afternoon and evening, December 12, in the lecture room of the church. This will be an opportunity to secure all kinds of fancy and useful Christmas gifts.

D. R. Fraser is sending out men each week to his lumber camp at Mossburn. He will employ upwards of one hundred men this season, and expects to haul about 3,000,000 feet of lumber from the camp. Last year he hauled about 2,500,000 feet.

The carnival of seasons opened yesterday afternoon in the basement of the Presbyterian church, and will be open again this afternoon and evening. There are four booths representing the four seasons. Supper served from 5 to 7. A more enjoyable affair has not taken place in Edmonton for some time.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McLaggan, Strathcona, was the scene of a quiet, but very pretty wedding on Wednesday evening, when Miss Margaret Livingstone, sister of Mrs. McLaggan, was united in marriage to Mr. Hugh McLannett, of Edmonton. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. George, of the Episcopal church, and took place in the drawing room, richly decorated for the occasion. The bride looked charming in a wedding gown of white silk, and carried a bouquet of white roses. She was given away by her brother-in-law, Wm. McLaggan, and was attended by her sister, Miss Hannah, as bridesmaid. Mr. John Livingstone ably supported the groom. The groom's gift to the bride was a brooch of pearls, to the bridesmaid a gold ring, chain, and to the groomsmen a fob. Many costly and handsome gifts were received by the bride. Mr. and Mrs. McLannett will take up their residence in Edmonton.

SUBSTANTIAL REDUCTION IN FREIGHT RATES

Winnipeg, Dec. 1.—Traffic Manager Shaw of the C.N.R. announces a substantial reduction in freight rates between Winnipeg and Edmonton and Strathcona, varying from 19 to 41 cts. per 100 lbs. The rates are based on the favorable arrangement the jobbers of Edmonton and Strathcona will successfully compete with Calgary in the C. & P. E. line, heretofore local to Calgary jobbers. His company will receive freight at Winnipeg for the C. & P. E. line and after next Monday. An early announcement is to be made regarding through passenger service.

VISITOR WELL PLEASED

Among the latest arrivals from the States is W. W. Prevey, one of the prominent farmers of Illinois, who is looking over the Edmonton district in the interests of himself and many others. Mr. Prevey visited several points in Minnesota and North Dakota while en route to Edmonton. He says the people in the States are getting quite generally enthused over the possibilities of this section as a place for investment and the desirability of it as a place for permanent residence and farming operations. Where a year ago one person was thinking of coming to Alberta there are now a hundred, and the coming spring will see by far the largest influx of Americans on record. The Edmonton district seems to be the popular place with the homeseekers. Mr. Prevey says he came to Sunny Alberta just in time to experience the superiority of the weather conditions of this place over the home state, as while he has been enjoying the clear skies and bracing air of the last few days, the Great Lakes section has been visited by some of the most destructive storms since 1872. The reports he has received from relatives here during the past two and a half years, prove that the seasons have been pleasant and crop conditions more favorable than those of his part of Wisconsin. He will make some investments in land on his own account, but is undecided whether to buy a homestead or engage in some of the many good opportunities in a business way. The first of the coming week he will make a trip through the Stony Plain and White Horse Lake districts.

Civic Affairs Discussed

appeal to a British audience. They were used to the freest kind of government, in which the people could put their finger right on the responsible men in regard to public service. He thought our commissioner was sufficient. He thanked the citizens for the honor they had done him in electing him as alderman. He wished to say that as he had a good many business affairs to attend to, and as the people of Sturgeon had been good enough to elect him as their representative to the legislature of Alberta, he would ask the ratepayers to relieve him of his duties as alderman. If he could render the city any service as a member of the Legislature, that service would be cheerfully rendered.

ALDERMAN CLARKE.

Ald. Clarke then spoke briefly, and announced that he would stand for re-election. A good many improvements had been made during the year. The sidewalks of the city had been increased one-third during the year. He would prefer that artificial sidewalks had been laid, as they were economical. The mileage of sewerage and water mains had also been doubled. He regretted the amount of sickness and poor sanitary conditions in the city, and thought that the council should force the sewerage and water works into houses where they were not already, even at the cost of sacrifice on the part of the ratepayers.

He thought there was room for improvement in the city charter. The system of taxation was all right. Regarding the postoffice site, the council had picked out four sites, and the ratepayers would be asked to vote upon the matter shortly. As chairman of the finance committee he would say that the city now stood on a good financial basis. The total assessment amounted to $600,000. There had been an expenditure of $600,075 during the year. There was a floating debt of $500,000. Expenditures on electric lighting, telephone system, and water works were all covered by the revenue from these services. There was a gross income of $295,000. This was a low debt.

He thought the present system of electing aldermen was a good one. ALDERMAN PICARD. Ald. Picard then spoke. He intended to stand for re-election. He had said last year that he was in favor of having commissioners, but they should be responsible to the council. The work was taken out of the hands of the council. If elected again he would do his best to have the charter amended. Ald. Picard spoke of the matter of parks. He was in favor of securing favorable grounds in both ends of the city, and having two parks. The city was growing, and it was to the interests of the citizens to see these grounds secured at once, as later it would be impossible to secure suitable grounds at low prices.

Regarding the street railway, he always had thought that the company should stand by its agreement. He was also in favor of work being pushed along next spring on the telephone system, and he would like to see a fire station in the west end of the city. He also would like to see something done in procuring a hay market, as he thought the present for side walks should be tested and would do his best to see that these matters were looked after in future.

ALD. GRIESBACH. It was getting late when Ald. Griesbach rose to speak. He proposed to stand for re-election. He was chairman of committee on fire, market and civic buildings, and briefly explained the work done by that committee during the year, showing that a good deal had been accomplished. They had added to the market property the Heintz property, consisting of six lots and a house. This was at the disposal of the city for market buildings, and possibly a new city hall.

In connection with the fire brigade a new bell had been purchased, a large quantity of hose, a new howitzer, a new team of horses, and a second chemical engine. The wages of the firemen had amounted to $420,000. $10,000 had been expended on the duplicate water main from the power house to Jasper avenue. The city now had a duplicate system of waterworks. Force pumps had been purchased. An automatic valve had been installed at the water tower which could be closed from the power house and a full pressure obtained at once in case of fire.

Next year the ratepayers would probably be asked to bear the expenditure of a new system of fire alarm to be installed shortly.

He had requested Mayor McKenzie to call a meeting at which all candidates should have an opportunity of speaking.

ANOTHER MEETING ANNOUNCED

At close of the meeting His Worship announced that in accordance with Ald. Griesbach's request, he would call a meeting for Thursday evening next in the hall.
